4 grade school classes win health district's annual UNLV Coaches Challenge Coaches to visit winning classrooms

LAS VEGAS – The message is simple . . . fruit, vegetables and physical activity are good for you. Elementary school children from several schools took the message to heart and won the 5th annual UNLV Coaches Challenge, a collaborative program that encourages grade-school children to choose healthy food and participate in physical activity. A UNLV coach will visit each winning classroom throughout May to congratulate the students for their efforts and to encourage them to make healthy choices and to be physically active. For information about the annual Coaches Challenge or tips about adopting healthy lifestyle tips, visit www.GetHealthyClarkCounty.org or call the Southern Nevada Health District's office of chronic disease prevention and health promotion, (702) 759-1270.

The annual Coaches Challenge is a collaborative effort between the Southern Nevada Health District, the Clark County School District and UNLV Athletics. The program began with former Runnin' Rebel head coach Lon Kruger and has grown to include head coaching staff from UNLV's other teams. Each year, the winning classrooms receive tickets to UNLV sporting events and the grand prize winning classrooms receive a visit from a UNLV head coach.
